

Dogsled mail on its way

Neither sleet, nor snow, nor dark of night will keep the mail from getting through...it's coming by dogsled.

Two heavily laden dogsleds, each carrying two bags of commemorative envelopes, pulled out of Bruderheim, Alberta, late Saturday morning. Huskies straining at the traces as Richard and Diane Smith started their week-long journey from the original site of Edmonton House to the site of Buckingham House. A volley of shots from the black powder muskets of the Edmonton House Brigade mingled with the cheers of the crowd as the mushers sped down the railway trackage and headed for the river.

The route the Smiths will follow is a historic one, dating to the days of the fur trade forts. Two hundred years ago, mail to western Canada traveled by dogsled in the winter, canoe in the summer, both using rivers such as the North Saskatchewan as their highway through the wilderness. To make their journey as authentic as possible, the Smiths are using the same style of sleds and harness as was used in those long ago times, and much of their camping equipment is similar to that carried by frontiersmen. Even their supply of Canadian Cold Buster Bars, furnished by inventor Dr. Larry Wang, is a modern equivalent of the pemmican which would have nourished sledgers of 1792, with its high energy and easy portability.

The Smiths, who have been sworn in as temporary employees of Canada Post, were given a warmhearted sendoff by a crowd made up of residents of both Bruderheim and Elk Point, plus Canada Post officials. Bruderheim's Fire Department was up early to fuel up the crowd with a hotcake breakfast, with a well filled community hall and songs by the Bruderheim Vocal Chords and soloist Joanne Wachwoicz welcoming the honor guard of Scouts, Cubs, Brownies and Beavers from both communities who, along with the Edmonton House Brigade, Canada Post officials and a pair of RCMP officers, escorted Bruderheim postmaster Laura Kupsch from the post office to the hall, which was renamed "Edmonton House" for the occasion.

MC Adele Mandryk, representing Elk Point Town Council and the Bicentennial Project, and Bruderheim Mayor Pat Kroker shared the introduction of honored guests. Canada Post representative Rick Albert said the commemorative mail run "makes

Scouting association holds annual banquet

Elk Point Scouting Association held their annual family banquet last Wednesday, with a good crowd on hand for an excellent dinner, entertainment by Scouts, Cubs and Beavers, a number of presentations, and a fundraising cake auction.

Group Committee Chairman Tim Zarowny presented gifts of appreciation to Beaver leaders Gloria Zarowny, Cindy Nelson, Bruce Thornton and Myron Gulayec, Cub leader Karen Reed and Scoutmasters Pat Johnson and Ed Zarowny. The Elk Point and District Lions Club, represented by Glenn Flanders, was applauded for their increased co-operation in the Scouting Association, including sharing the profits from the Community Christmas Card and providing meeting accommodation, in addition to their ongoing general sponsorship of the group.

Plaques expressing appreciation were presented to Allan Frankiw of Norcen Energy Resources, Tad and Karen Reed of Elk Point Esso, Lawrence and Margaret Modin, cake sale auctioneer Walter Skolarchuk, Don and Grace Pinder (who took the Beavers for a horse-drawn sleigh ride), Fur Trappers' Supper organizer Ian Huffman and fundraising chairman Glenn Flanders. Flanders in turn presented Tim Zarowny with a gift for his efforts on behalf of the Association. District Scouting Commissioner Roxanne Ringuette was presented with a Bicentennial hat, and the Association's Cha-

Crime, collisions decrease in 1991

Significant decreases in the numbers of criminal code offences, provincial code offences and traffic collisions during 1991 were reported to Elk Point Town Council by Sgt. Pat Muzzeral of the Elk Point RCMP at last week's regular meeting. Offences under the criminal code were down approximately 30 per cent from 1990 figures, Sgt. Muzzeral said, while traffic accidents dropped from 55, with one injury, in 1990, to 30 with no injuries reported, in 1991.

Sgt. Muzzeral, who has been in charge of the 7-member Elk Point detachment since July, feels that preventive measures have helped to deter both crime and accidents.

The Detachment is involved with the community in a number of ways, including an ongoing visitation program with both schools, a seniors' protection program, and tours of the detachment for playschool, parent nursery, kindergarten and summer play participants. Preventive measures include bar walks, check stops and random patrols of the town, and will hopefully expand to include Lady Beware sessions and an update of business security measures.

Sgt. Muzzeral said he couldn't emphasize enough that the "community must get involved" in helping the detachment to keep Elk Point a safe, law abiding place in which to live. Community involvement is a growing trend in law enforcement across the country, and gains importance as the cost of policing becomes more and more expensive.

Other business coming before Council included further discussion of funding for the Fire Department, who have submitted an updated budget asking for an increase from $6000 to $7500 for firefighters' honoraria, and an increase of $500 in their social fund allotment. Council agreed that a very tight budget prevents them from making the latter addition, but that honoraria will continue to be paid even if the budgeted amount for that function is exhausted due to increased attendance at practices and fires.

The Community Tourism Action Committee was inadvertently overlooked entirely during 1992 Budget preparations, and their budget was brought forward for approval. One cutback was made, allowing one rather than two delegates to attend the Tourism Industry of Alberta Conference, and the budget approved in the amount of $2150.

Council was advised that monthly fees for the Jack and Jill Playschool will be increased from $10 to $15 per child for participants whose parents wish to opt out of the volunteering requirements. The additional amount will be kept in a separate account and used for snacks, etc. on days when these are not brought by a parent volunteer.

Eight applicants for the temporary position of receptionist / typist were shortlisted to four, with Betty Callbeck hired from among those interviewed. The position covers a maternity leave and will continue until the end of August.

Eleven tenders for the purchase of a one ton truck for the Public Works Department were reviewed by the Utilities Committee, with their recommendation to purchase a 1992 Chev 350 from Rowe and Sons, Vermilion, ratified by Council. The purchase, which with box and other necessary equipment, will total $25,710 less the municipal GST rebate, and will be paid from the AMPLE grant.

The residential garbage collection contract with Laidlaw was discussed, and Administrator Ken Kendall delegated to negotiate with Laidlaw on the Town's behalf.

Councillor Adele Mandryk reported on behalf of the Development Committee. Signage is planned for the south entrance to town, with the Bicentennial Society applying for a CTAP grant of $2400 toward the $3600 project.

Elk Point to host tournament

The Elk Point Minor Hockey Association will be playing host to the Provincial Midget "C" Tournament the last weekend in March. This tournament will mean that over one hundred players and coaches from across the province will be in Elk Point for three days. One team from each of the seven zones throughout Alberta will participate, with Elk Point Thunder the host team.

Plans are well underway for this event, which will include a number of activities in and around the arena. Everything possible will be done to make these young athletes and their coaches and families welcome in our community. If you or your group would like to be part of these plans, please contact Al Pankiw (724-2575), President of Minor Hockey, or Shirley Harms (724-4413), Special Events Coordinator, as soon as possible. Otherwise, make plans of your own to be in on the action March 27, 28 and 29, 1992.

us think of how people and their correspondence got moved around before there were trains," and travellers zigzagged across the country following lakes and rivers, transported by horses, canoes, dogsleds and snowshoes. One mail delivery method in the early days, he commented, involved hanging a pouch containing mail at the end of a portage, where it would be seen by those coming across the river at that point.

"This event is proof positive that the demand for reliable mail service is steeped in the history of western Canada," Albert said, noting that the far north still relies at times on dogsleds and snowshoes for transportation of people and mail.

Postmaster Laura Kupsch "tried to envision the role of women 200 years ago" but found this somewhat difficult because history books were filled with the names of men. She gave thanks for the few women of the past "who stood up and were heard" in their efforts to develop the country. Mrs. Kupsch said that Saturday was "an exciting day in the history of these two communities."

It shows the need for neighbors to work together." She then cancelled the last few envelopes, tucked them into the bright orange Canada Post mailbags, and presented the bags to the Smiths, wishing them "Godspeed on your journey."

Bicentennial Coordinator Billie Milholland presented the Smiths with commemorative Bicentennial sashes, before the lengthy entourage marched out of the hall and down the length of the street to the railway tackage. Here, interested observers saw the sleds loaded, dogs hitched and everything made ready for the trek.

The Smiths will be out of touch with the rest of the world for the duration of their journey, which will hopefully end Friday in Elk Point. Elk Point is gearing up to welcome them with a Fur Trapper's Supper, entertainment by the McDade Family Band, and a dance. Tickets for this event are available at the Bicentennial Headquarters and several local businesses and are going fast. Get yours now, and be on hand when the mail from this historic express is handed out at its destination.

plain, Rev. Sam Donaldson, was presented with his Chaplain's badge.

The Beavers led the entire crowd in a lively action song as their part of the program, while the Cubs did the Hunger Dance of Kaa, from the Jungle Book. The Scouts ended the entertainment with a 'Stupendous' cheer.

Deputy Mayor Louis Verhagen represented the Town at the banquet, bringing greetings and commenting that "this town is full of volunteers."

District Commissioner Ringuette congratulated the Association on another great year of Scouting, and said she looks forward to many more years of the same. Ms Ringuette congratulated Bruce Thornton and Glenn Flanders on their qualification for Wood Badge I, and Tim Zarowny on his completion of Group Committee Training. As has long since become a tradition, Ms Ringuette also led the group in a song, which made up in enthusiasm what it lacked this year in actions.

The attention then turned to the tableful of attractively decorated cakes and their young creators. Beaver member Christopher Neilsen was presented with the first prize ribbon, with Beaver Derek Thornton taking second prize and Cub Casper Zarowny placing third.

Auctioneer Walter Skolarchuk then took the floor to sell the 30 cakes for a total of $1185, with the highest priced confection selling for $75.

Red Cross kickoff

Red Cross members and volunteers in Elk Point and surrounding areas are reminded that the Annual Red Cross Campaign Kickoff Tea is being held this afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the United Church Hall. March is Red Cross Month and this dedicated group is ready to embark on their yearly canvass for funds.

Administrator resigns post

Ken Kendall has announced that he will resign his position as Elk Point's Town Administrator as of March 27, 1992. Town Council accepted the resignation with regret at their February 10 meeting, and agreed to advertise the position immediately in order to find a replacement. Kendall has accepted a post with the Town of Lacombe, and will begin work there April 1.

Downsizing means less revenue

The downsizing of Norcen Energy Resources operations in the Elk Point area will have an effect on both the town and the rural community, Area Superintendent Allan Frankiw told Elk Point Town Council's February 10 meeting.

One of the four layoffs and six of the nine transfers made by the company are to Elk Point residents, which "will have an effect" on the local housing market, Frankiw said. The abandonment of 20 wells in the area, along with subsequent reclamation of the sites, will mean less lease revenue for the agricultural community, he added.

Norcen is facing a possibility that depreciation and depletion costs could force them to shut in the whole area, Frankiw said. The company has been aware of this possibility since 1986, as prices have dropped off and profits have decreased. However, Frankiw remains "hopeful we will still operate." Better prices which tend to occur each summer will lead to increased production at that time, and Frankiw says these peaks will be handled with the addition of contract workers.

Mustangs outrun Elks

Dewberry Mustangs ran down and trampled the Elk Point Elks last Tuesday, in the Elks' second last league game of the season.

The teams appeared well matched in the first period, which remained scoreless for 11 minutes and 22 seconds, until Darcy Whitlock scored for the Mustangs off assists by Tyrol Brock and Bruce Goldsmith.

The Elks tied the score eight minutes into the second period, with a goal by Rick Marcoux, assisted by John Wozniak. Tyrol Brock brought the Mustangs back into the lead three minutes later, off an assist by Bruce Goldsmith, with Darcy Whitlock's second of the evening with 42 seconds left in the period (assists by Harold Bowman and Ken Lawrence) bringing the score to 3-1 in the Mustangs' favor.

Dewberry advanced their lead by two more goals in the first and last two minutes of the third period. Tyrol Brock scored his second exactly two minutes into the period, assisted by Darcy Whitlock and Bruce Goldsmith, while George Ward scored with 1:55 left on the clock, assisted by Blair Hanna and Kent Boyd.

Community Services gets ready for Volunteer week

Volunteer Week

Elk Point received $3,500. from the Wild Rose Foundation in a contract for services to provide activities and information for Volunteer Week. Tracy Kjenner began in the position of Volunteer Week Coordinator February 3.

A Volunteer Week general meeting was held Tuesday, February 11, and an Advisory Committee for Volunteer Week was created. The Advisory Committee will be responsible for assisting in the decision-making, planning, organizing and following through on the activities for Volunteer Week which is April 26 to May 2 this year.

We are looking forward to making Volunteer Week something special this year in order that appreciation be shown toward volunteers and in order to promote volunteerism. Our community relies heavily on volunteers and it's time that is recognized. Take time to think about the areas in which you volunteer and those areas where you are the recipient of volunteerism. Think about it - "Let's Celebrate Volunteer Week."

Any individuals interested in being involved or anyone wanting more information can call Tracy at 724-3800.

Need a Hand With Your Taxes?

Volunteers are available to help. It's a free service. And, who knows, you may find the

Famine fighters are in need of your help

F. G. Miller students participating in the 1992 World Vision 30 Hour Famine need your help to make this event a success.

Students at F. G. Miller Junior / Senior High School are volunteering to fast for 30 consecutive hours to raise money to fight world hunger. For 30 hours, these "famine fighters" will donate their time and sacrifice three main meals in their attempt to help impoverished countries. However, they cannot do it without your help. They need you to make a contribution when they are soliciting donations. These donations need not be large; even the smallest amount will help. Please note that all donations are tax deductible and will be receipted at the time of collection.

The participating students will begin the fast on Friday, February 28 at 12:15 p.m. and will remain at the school until Saturday, February 29 at 6:15 p.m., when the fast is completed. "Supervised activities are being planned to keep the students' minds off their growling stomachs," says Ms Angela Friesen, organizer for the F. G. Miller 30 Hour Famine. "Some of the activities will include a dance, board games, sports, videos and a murder mystery."

"With the help of local merchants and parent volunteers, I am hoping to organize a simple supper of soup and sandwiches for all participants at the conclusion of the famine. I am confident that the community of Elk Point will support the participants and that the final dollar figure forwarded to World Vision will be substantial."

If you wish to participate, donate or volunteer, please contact Ms Friesen at FGM (724-3966).

Scout and Guide week

The 1st Elk Point Scouting Association is celebrating the birthday of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Scouting movement, during the month of February.

In addition to our Family Banquet and Cake Auction last Wednesday, many other events will be attended, such as a Family Winter Fun Day at Lac Bellevue, the Interdenominational Church Service and Parade in St. Paul on February 23, along with the regular meeting days of Mondays at 6:00 to 7:30 p.m. for Beavers, Cubs on Tuesdays from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. and Scouts on Wednesdays from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m.

"The aim of Boy Scouts of Canada is to help boys, youth and young adults to develop their character as resourceful and responsible members of the community by providing opportunities and guidance for their mental, physical, social and spiritual development."

Register your boy or girl anytime! Please call Tim Zarowny at 724-4374 or Diane Huffman at 724-4137 for more information.

In Our View

Family day, family year(s)

Thinking about this "Family Day" observance, as we have just been doing, and wondering if we really need a special, fancy day, just to remind us we have families? Very nice, I'm sure, to have a 'free' day, kids out of school, and some businesses closed, so parents can associate with their kids a little more.

But family is so much more than the little group that lives under your own roof, wonderful as they are. When I think "family", I think brothers, sisters, cousins, nieces, nephews, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, aunts and uncles, mothers, fathers, and grandparents, as well as of my children. Then throw in the In-Laws, including versions of all the above, and all those, once, twice- and thrice-removed, and you'll admit the circle grows.

Many of these have gone from our lives, since we have only a short span, though long since well past the allotted threescore years and ten we once had a reasonable expectancy of reaching. And some do go on ahead at a much younger age than that. Still, we are in an age of longevity, as compared to centuries past.

And so our families grow. Nor do they deplete as fast as in days of typhoid, consumption, smallpox and bubonic plague. (No predictions from me of what will pop us off like flies in coming years, you know as well as I do.)

Some of us develop such a yen to pinpoint and catalogue our ancestors that we engage in searching out our Family Tree, and we fill those countless pages with lists of names, who married whom, (and divorced, if that applies!) and who their offspring were, and who they married, begat, and so on, and on. A very interesting and satisfying task this can be, too, especially if we are successful in finding the information we seek. And, once in a while, an unknown live one.

In the case of families which sent one or more members off to explore, homestead, and settle the 'new lands' (such as our Prairies were), often only one or two came here, and the rest of the family stayed in The Old Country, whatever that was, Great Britain, Europe, the United States, etc., etc., and unless a real effort was put forth, many of those families lost touch over the years, and can usually only be found again with some difficulty.

However, many families did keep in touch, and when finances and the times grew amenable, visits to the native lands have taken place. My own Mother, who came with her parents to Canada in 1900, at the age of seven, was able to return to the ancestral town in Sussex, England, where she found cousins, some as old as she was then (in the early 70's), who remembered her, and took her about to see the old churches, castles and such that she recalled over all those years.

These people were still her family, sharing the same ancestors, and they greeted each other with ready-made welcome and hugs of joy. Many of Mother's generation are now gone, but here am I, still writing to their off-spring, and talking 'family' affairs. They are part of my family. As a few of them have, over the years, travelled to Canada, so I have visions of one day journeying to this segment of my "roots", to visit the old cemeteries, and meet these cousins (however many times removed) and walk on my ancestral sod.

This is a journey many of you long to make, and one many of you already made. Two of my Mother's brothers made the journey, both in a far different fashion, as they went to participate in the First World War. As did two of my own brothers, defending our principles, in the Second World War. And other's of my family have visited Britain; I believe they all visited the 'family' there, and the turf of our forefathers.

Alberta Trails

By Irene Magnusson

By the osmosis of marriage, we have family in Sweden, and all over the USA, and in every province. A good many of them I know about and have met; many more I still hope to meet one day.

And isn't it strange, I like them all, that I've met. I plan on liking all the others, too, if I get a chance. I would say this is a trait of families; we are prepared to like, even love, our many members. I truly don't know how I would manage, if I were an orphan. Perhaps 'adopt' a family?

We have had several Family Reunions, all highly successful, the largest in 1980, when we had 213 names in the guest book. Others were less well attended, and for some of us travelling is costly and difficult. Writing is an excellent method of "keeping in touch" with our extended families. As is the telephone. I've long been an addictive letter writer, but even I pall when my list is over a hundred long. Many of our family use the 'copied' letter (some call it a 'form' letter) (write one, photocopy as many as required). I've used this method, quite without shame, for some years, sometimes make it up like a newspaper, with whatever family news of the past year I can find. I love the ones I receive.

For with our family, we not only want to know that they are, we want to know how they fare, who married, becomes parents, or passes on. I am always glad to get the notes, letters, phone calls. And, of course, the visits. These are often far between, but they come now and then, and with them, my knowledge that I am part of a loving family, who remember me, and love me, as I love them.

It's scouting week

Of all the things that are alive and well in Elk Point, the Scouting Association must be one of the most active. Involving everyone from preschool age Beavers to adult leaders, the group carries on year round to help Elk Point youngsters to learn to be good and productive citizens.

That was the aim Lord Baden-Powell had, all those years ago, when he first developed a club for boys. As the movement grew and spread around the world, just think how many people, in how many nations, were shaped in their formative years by the principles this great man set down. His sister initiated the Girl Guides, and that group has likewise spread its lifelong lessons to many nations.

In Scouting and Guiding, members learn not just one set of skills, as they do with a sport, but many skills which they will continue to use throughout their adult years, everything from sewing on a button to cooking a meal. Good citizenship is a vital part of Scouting and Guiding, as the young people learn various ways to serve their communities as volunteers.

Along with the learning aspect, the members of these great organizations have a good time, whether at their weekly meetings, on weekend campouts, or at jamborees or on exchange trips where they make new friends from across the province or even further afield.

Adults who work with these youngsters learn too, and often find a great sense of satisfaction in their involvement. They donate many hours to their associations, but feel it is worthwhile. And so it is, in view of the impact it has on the young lives that are enriched in this way.

Our Past

Steve Andrishak

Anyone not familiar with the Lindbergh District will be surprised to learn that Lindbergh at one time was a very thriving and bustling hamlet. In fact the entire district is rich in past history that goes back to about 1908 when the early settlers first started to take up homesteads.

In 1910 a post office was established in the Stewart Maxwell residence and was called Tyrol. In 1911 this post office was moved to the site of the Moose Creek Telegraph Station and renamed Mooswa. The telegraph Station was situated in the area of where our Windsor Salt Plant now stands. It was one of many telegraph stations in operation between Winnipeg and Edmonton. Two early telegraph operators at this site were George Mann and Art Bowtell. One other business located at the Mooswa Site was the Eddy Davis General Store.

Some of the early settlers started arriving about 1908. The Henry Anderson family as well as the Davis family, Bob Chanler, Louis DeDelly, and Tom Johnson were all early pioneers to the district. Others were the Frisby and Lorenson families, Billy McCormick, Leo and Barney Edwards, Omra Bullis and Ally Lambright.

Many families settled to the north of present day Lindbergh. They were the Caleb Dunham and McLain families, the Allens, the Ochermans, the Hillebrands, the Laughlins, the Martins, the Bartholomews, the Hatchards, Albert Hammond, Slim Harris, the William Saranchuk family as well as the Chris Nelson family. This is just a partial listing of the settlers to the area, there were many others.

After the area was partially settled, a school was built. It was called Moose Creek School District No. 2062 and for many years it was attended by the many children of that area.

Early Lindbergh

With the arrival of the railroad in 1928 the Mooswa settlement was moved a few miles to the north west. It was re-named Lindbergh, in honor of Charles Lindbergh, a flyer who had flown across the Atlantic Ocean in a small one engine plane in 1927. Soon after the hamlet of Lindbergh grew at an alarming rate. Eddy Davis moved his general store from the Mooswa site and there he established Lindbergh's first post office. Later it was taken over by Vic Ramsbottom who later relinquished it to Hardy Lawrence. Hardy also operated a garage as well as the Imperial Oil agency. Still later Hardy turned the post office over to his daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Saranchuk, who operated it for many years.

A second store was soon operating in Lindbergh, it was owned by Mrs. A. Palynchuk, it was later sold to Karl Heinemann. It was followed by a third general store, one operated by Gladys Sweheim, who later sold out to Jim Young. Soon after the arrival of the railroad the Imperial Lumber Co. established a lumber yard as well as a hardware store. It was first managed by Vic Ramsbottom and later by Jim McIvor, Royal Wilson and Harold Tomjun. About this time the United Grain Growers built a grain elevator. It was first managed by Charles Carlton and later by Ted Magnusson. Nearby was the stockyards which bought and shipped livestock once a week. At one time a hotel was in the process of being built but was never really put into operation. The builder, George Henry died while it was being constructed, and this project was then shelved. Other places of business in Lindbergh was a pool hall and barber shop operated by Joe "Red" Carrier, a lively barn managed by Leo Edwards, a meat market owned by Eddy Davis and a small railroad station which was used for storing freight as well as providing a shelter for those using the trains. In the north part of the hamlet stood the Catholic Church. A blacksmith shop built by Bob Poitras was also doing business. Later (1934) a second Blacksmith shop was built by Wm. Penerowski and his son Harvey. They moved to Lindbergh from the dried out area of Saskatchewan and stayed till 1939.

The Municipal District of Lincoln was also located in the Lindbergh District. It was first operated by H.J. Ramsbottom and later taken over by Tom Johnson. This office collected farm, school and residential taxes for the area and also conducted the affairs within the municipality.

Lindbergh, although it was a small hamlet, always had a good baseball, softball and hockey team. They could always compete with teams in larger centres. Some of the early baseball players I remember were: Fred Frisby, Bob Maxwell, Jim Young, Harvey Penerowski, Leo Edwards, Sherman Davis, Charley Keller and Eddy Davis.

Some of the hockey players I recall were Eddy Davis, Chester Davis and Fred Lorenson.

Lindbergh held its own for many years but for some unknown reason it began to decline and eventually all places of business closed. Today it is mainly a residential community. What may have caused its demise was the improvement of automobiles, better conditioned roads which allowed the residents to shop in larger centres and the loss of their school, which no doubt contributed to its downfall. It was a sad fate however Lindbergh was not alone, it seemed this trend occurred throughout all of Alberta.

Those who can remember when Lindbergh was a thriving hamlet will no doubt agree Lindbergh has a very interesting past.

What's news at the library?

The Annual Meeting of the Elk Point Public Library was held on February 11, 1992. Nineteen ninety-one was a very successful year. Our book stock increased from 15,597 to 17,134 volumes. Our membership increased 14.6% to 1021 members in 1991: 546 patrons (242 children, 261 adults) reside in Elk Point and 475 (214 children, 261 adults) reside outside of town. Our circulation of material increased 3.9%. There were 1324.5 hours of volunteer work that was donated to the library. All in all, a wonderful year. Copies of the Librarian's Annual Report and the Financial Statement are available in the library.

Mike O'Neill has very generously offered one of his collection of diecast metal miniature cars, that are on display in the library, for a draw. In order to enter this draw for a 1964 Ford Mustang No. 13, in a series of vintage vehicles, you much check out some library material.

"THE CHILDREN'S PARTY HANDBOOK" by Alison Boteler. Here's an easy to follow book on making decorations and costumes for that great party for the children. Some celebration ideas in the book are "Mother Goose Party", "Valentine Tea With the Queen of Hearts", "A Birthday Circus" and much more fun ideas.

If you got all tied up with Cat's

Cradle by the author Camilla Gryski, you're ready for her new book "SUPER STRING GAMES". In this book, you'll find 26 of the most unusual and amazing string figures ever created.

From the juvenile series Amazing Worlds, the book "AMAZING BEETLES" by John Still, takes a fascinating look at some of the world's most amazing beetles.

Another book bought by the Elk Point Historical Society is "FUR TRADE TO FREE TRADE" by Randall White. Putting the Canada-US trade Agreement in Historical Perspective. "MY BELOVED SON" by Catherine Cookson - Ellen Jaebeau had desires for her son

Joseph. She would stop at nothing to see he had all in life that she had missed. Read how Joseph struggles to escape the traumatic heritage of his mother's ruthless ambition and emerge as his own true self.

Take a trip with an eccentric inventor Caractacus Potts (Dick Van Dyke), his two children and his beautiful lady friend, Truly Scrumptious, (Sally Ann Howes) go on a picnic at the beach where they are soon whisked into a magical world of pirates, castles and a flying car called "CHITTY CHITTY BANG BANG". This video will hold the whole family's attention. Another adventure video is "SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON" where a shipwrecked family on a deserted island learn to survive against all odds! This is a 30-minute animated video. A shipment of children's French books has arrived from Alberta Culture. They will be here for six months.

Library membership up 14.6 per cent

Elk Point Public Library is continuing its growth trend, with a 14.6 per cent increase in membership and a 3.9 per cent increase in circulation in 1991 reported at last Tuesday's Annual Meeting.

The Library had a total of 1021 members in 1991, as compared to 891 in 1990, and total circulation was 25,532, up from 24,574 in 1990. The library's book collection grew from 15,597 volumes in 1990 to 17,134 in 1991, in addition to sizeable collections of music and video cassettes, talking books and magazines. The library took part in three Large Print Book exchanges, two video exchanges and hosted two blocks of special interest books, through the Northern Lights Library System.

The library facility was well used, with 65 meetings, three workshops, one art show and three exams held in the program room.

Librarian Doreen Mayner reported on the successful year of operation, in which the Board took an active role in fundraising to meet the financial needs and take up the slack left by budget trimming. The staff had a busy year furthering their library skills, with Mrs. Mayner successfully completing her Rural Library Training Course in Adult Collection Development, and subsequently attaining with honors the Advanced Level in Small Library Management from SAIT. Diane Fraess completed a course on Information Services, which is proving useful in her day-to-day work.

Goals and objectives were further developed. The Library Brochure was redesigned and has been circulated at Information Night and in the New Resident packages. The Library has a new mascot, the Bookalo, who has made numerous public appearances. The library column appears in the paper each week, and the community television channel has been used to advertise library events.

"Travelling Tales" visited Heritage Lodge and the hospital's extended care patients, and the library's Outreach Service made 24 visits to those two institutions as well.

Storytime continued throughout the year, with an average of 17 participants per week, and the Summer Reading Program was a big success with 52 elementary students and 34 preschoolers involved in an "Intergalactic Quest." Story teller Gail DeVos visited the Junior High students during Canadian Children's Book Week. Both Mrs. Mayner and Mrs. Fraess volunteered their time for the Elementary School's "Read Project." Numerous school classes, including two from Fishing Lake, visited the library. Young library users are enjoying the new listening centre purchased with a donation from the Elks Lodge.

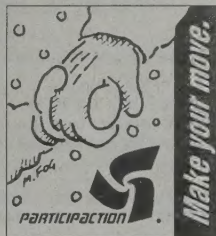

Grants from the Alberta Foundation for the Arts and from the County of St. Paul FCSS and Town of Elk Point Community Services have been put to good use, the first to purchase more large print books and the latter two to upgrade the family life, personal development and prevention collection. Another donation from AFA and one from the Royal Canadian Legion went toward the two handsome new display cases which are a recent addition to the library.

Edmonton author Myrna Kostash visited the library during National Book Festival, and entertained 47 people with her reading. This event was planned in conjunction with the annual Volunteer Appreciation Night. The library's volunteers are a very busy bunch, donating 1324.5 hours during 1991. Their contribution is very much appreciated.

Also much appreciated were the numerous donations made to the library throughout the year, by the BPOE, Legion, Oilmen's Association, Historical Society, Norcen Energy Resources, Pan Canadian Petroleum, E-Can Oilfield Services, Elk Point Petroleum, Elk Point Community Services, County FCSS and several individual donors.

The Library Board executive for the coming year was elected, with Daphne Schnurer as the new Chairperson, Faye Smith the Vice Chair, Adele Mandryk the Treasurer and Denise Smereka the Secretary. Cheryl Dzerdz, Lawrence Pidluzny and Susan Thornton make up the balance of the present Board.

In Loving Memory of Sophie Melnyk

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, who passed away February 18/90.

Greatly remembered every day. Sadly missed along life's way. No longer in our lives to share. But in our hearts you're always there.

Sadly missed by daughters, sons and grandchildren.

FACING AIDS

MEN AND AIDS

He's the picture of a family man. He is happily married, has a couple of children and a good job that takes him out of town every so often. He could be anybody's helpful neighbour. The difference between this man and many others is, he has sex with other men.

It may not be often, but when he has sex with other men he may take part in some pretty unsafe sexual practices. Unfortunately, chances are that the family man and his male partner don't use a condom. Neither of them takes precautions against infection with HIV, the virus that leads to AIDS.

People who have sex with both men and women are called bi-sexual. No matter how seldom they have sex with other men, bi-sexual men are at greater risk than most men of becoming infected with HIV. Certain sexual practices common during sex between men are more likely to result in the spread of HIV, if a condom is not used.

Bi-sexual men run the same risks of HIV infection that gay men do, but there is an additional risk in the sex lives of these men. Their wives or female partners may get the virus without any knowledge that they are at risk.

Women often use some form of birth control other than a condom. A bi-sexual man who suddenly suggests using a condom would need to explain his other sexual contacts. Yet if he does not use one, he runs the risk of giving HIV to his female partner. If she became infected there is a 30 per cent risk she could pass the virus to her unborn child if she became pregnant.

If you are a man who has sex with other men, whether once a week or once a year, are you prepared to risk the health, security and future of your loved ones? Have you been tested for HIV? Will you make the move to practice safer sex - using a latex condom? Make a decision you can live with!

For more information about HIV/AIDS you can call:

Sweetheart game for Elk Point Elks

What started out to be a disaster for the Elk Point Elks on Valentine's Day, February 14, turned out to be a sweetheart of a game instead.

The Elks were first to hit the scoreboard after a little more than one minute of play, Captain Terry Wozniak scoring off assists by Rick Marcoux and Delwyn Slomp. From that point on, however, the period went seriously downhill, with the Kitscoty Monarchs scoring four goals in 7 1/2 minutes to take a commanding lead. M. Weininger scored two of the four, with L. McEwen and C. Brown contributing singles. Assists were by Weninger, McEwen, E. Roberge (2), and L. Bexson.

The Elks presented a much stronger defence when they came back out for the second period, and kept the action close to the Kitscoty net, with Murray Cochrane taking advantage of three Kitscoty penalties to score at the 9:16 mark, off assists by Greg Desaulniers and Mike Boratyne. Another power play goal 27 seconds later, by Kerry Loughran off assists by Allan Loughran and Murray Cochrane, saw the Elks gaining ground, with yet another goal 2 minutes and 45 seconds later by Greg Desaulniers, assisted by Kerry Loughran, tying the score at 4-all.

Kitscoty edged ahead with a goal 7 1/2 minutes into the third period, C. Brown scoring his second of the game off an assist by M. Fulgham. The goal precipitated a fight which sent two from each team out of action, with another incident sending two more Elks and another Monarch to join them in the boxes 59 seconds later. Each team had already been decimated by one player following a fight at the end of the second period.

Kitscoty held their lead for more than seven minutes, until a goal by Shawn Mevel, assisted by Jeff Buck, tied things up again. Thirty seven seconds later, the Elks regained their lead, with Dave Dery scoring off assists by Terry Wozniak and Shawn Mevel. A final goal by Jeff Buck, assisted by Willie Lesyk, gave the Elks a 7-5 win in their final game of the regular season.

Handballers win gold

Team handball was played at Poundmakers' Gym for North Eastern Alberta Winter Games, on Saturday, Feb. 8. The three teams participating were of Elk Point, Lloydminster and Fort McMurray.

The first game, Elk Point came through with the win at a score of 8 to 6, leaving Lloydminster with the bronze medal. Elk Point advanced to the gold medal.

Playoff against Fort McMurray, playing a game of talent and endurance. Coach R. Kryns gave us girls his "charm" and led us to the win of a gold medal.

In three weeks time, our next challenge will be held in Fort McMurray, for the Alberta Winter Games.

The team consists of Coach Randall Kryns, manager Tennille Anderson, and players Christine Seniuk, Tanya Kenyon, Kim Miller, Tobey Conrad, Callie Baumgardner, Monica Engstrom, Renee Anderson, Jackie Youngchief, Kim Seward, Lana Kozicky, Kara Serniak and Shauna Loughran.
